SYSTEMATIC Approach With Quality

LUXURY IS IN THE DETAILS

Introduction

Established in 2014 in Delhi, India, Meraki bathware specializes in manufacturing and wholesaling a wide range of wellness products, including whirlpool bathtubs, ceiling showers, sauna rooms, steam rooms, and more. Our products are crafted from premium-quality materials sourced from reputable vendors, ensuring they meet the highest industry standards. Each item is designed through comprehensive research and development, focusing on durability, corrosion resistance, exceptional performance, and high compressive strength.

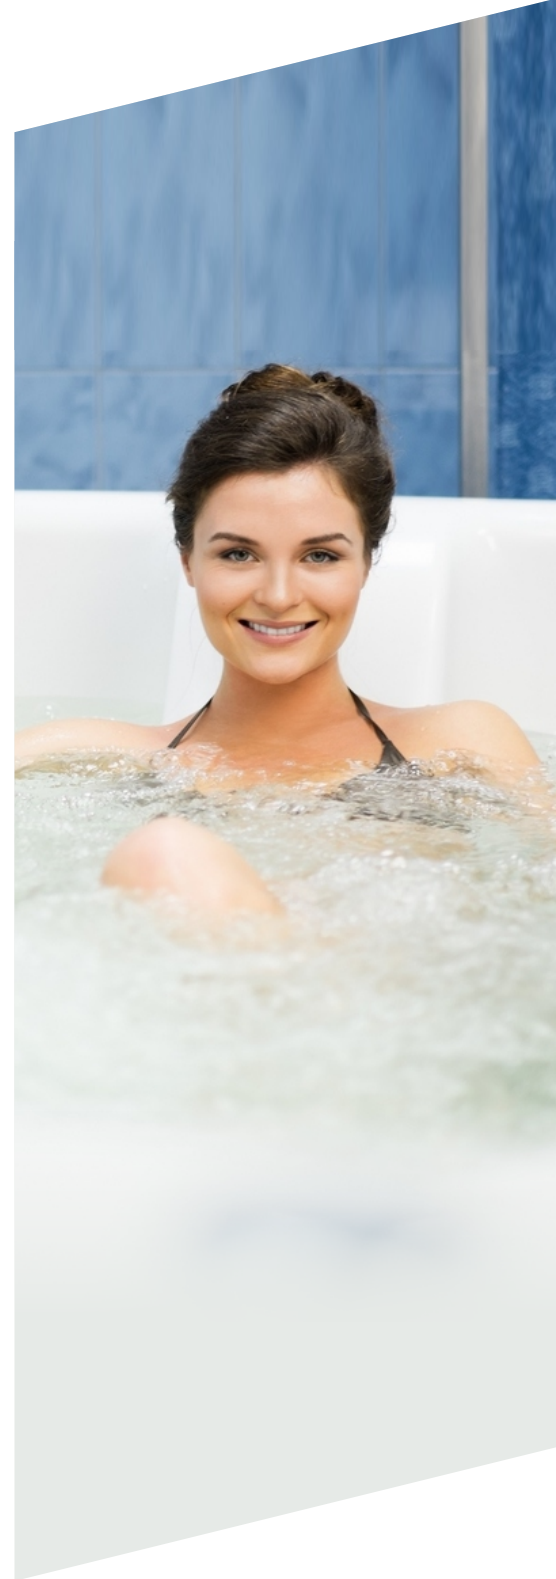

Our diverse product range is available in various sizes and specifications to cater to the unique demands of our clients. We pride ourselves on offering tailored solutions that align with specific customer requirements.

Our state-of-the-art infrastructure in Delhi includes distinct units for manufacturing, quality testing, warehousing, and administration. Our manufacturing facility is equipped with advanced machinery, including plate and pipe bending machines, TIG welding machines, and plasma arc cutting machines, which enhance our production capabilities. Additionally, our strategic location ensures efficient transportation, enabling timely deliveries to our clients.

We adhere to ethical business practices, earning us a reputable position in the market. Since our inception, we have focused on timely deliveries, customized solutions, and flexible transaction modes, which have contributed to our success.

Our dedicated team of professionals is committed to executing the production process efficiently. This team comprises qualified researchers, procurement agents, production personnel, and quality controllers, each skilled in their respective fields. Our researchers conduct regular market surveys to stay attuned to current trends and demands, allowing us to innovate and enhance our product offerings.

Under the insightful leadership of our Director, Mr. Raju Kashyap, we have achieved specialization in wellness products. His dedication and expertise enables us to consistently meet client expectations with high-quality offerings.
